

DESIGNERS IN RESIDENCE 2016

TERMS AND CONDITIONS:

- Completed applications must be submitted to the Design Museum by 9am on Tuesday 1 March 2016. Applications received after this deadline will not be accepted.
- Applications must be submitted by the online application form on the Design Museum website.
- Sketches, models and other material should be scanned or photographed and sent as attachments (no bigger than 2MB per image) following the instructions, along with competition entry forms.
- Designers in Residence is only open to designers who live and are eligible to work in the UK.
- Designers in Residence is only open to designers who have graduated from Higher Education within the last 5 years (within the 2011/12 academic year or more recently) and have been working professionally, either paid, or voluntarily in some form of design practice for at least one year.
- Only one application will be accepted per designer(s).
- Applications must be in response to the brief and feature new work or the development of an existing project. If an application is based on existing work the development of the work in response to the brief should be clear.
- The Design Museum will select a short list of around eight to ten designers who will be invited for interview at the Design Museum on 17 March 2016. Those shortlisted applicants invited for interview will be contacted by email or phone.
- If you are unable to attend the interview day the museum may be unable to progress your application depending on circumstances.
- The Design Museum will reimburse reasonable travel expenses for interviews at the museum, to be agreed in advance, for a maximum of £100.
- Following the interviews four applicants will be selected to become Design Museum Designers in Residence 2016.
- Each resident will receive a commissioning budget of £6000 (issued in agreed stages between appointment and delivery for development and production of the project). This work will be showcased at the Design Museum at the end of the development period.
- Residents are required to record their spend attached to the project.
- Following the successful completion of the residency, the selected Designers in Residence will each receive a bursary of £6000 to support the development of their career.
- As part of the residency, designers will be required to attend the press activities and evening receptions whilst the work is on display at the museum. Dates for these events will be confirmed on appointment.
- In addition the selected designers will be asked to participate in other activities in support of the launch and promotion of the programme.
- The featured designers will also be asked to participate in events which engage with the Design Museum's audience via networking, press interviews and opportunities, events and the public and learning programme. Details of these events are to be confirmed but may include attendance and participation events in the lead up to, and during, the showcase.

- Designers in Residence may also be asked to record their residency by supplying information and visual content demonstrating the development of the project for the showcase, press, marketing and online content. This will reveal the process of the designers work and practice and this content will be chosen alongside the curator.
- If the showcase tours to other venues in the UK, work created for the showcase will be kept by the Design Museum until the close of the tour after which the work will be available for collection from the Design Museum.
- After the residency, featured Designers in Residence will be permitted to showcase/promote the work created for the commission, however any such promotion must clearly credit that it was commissioned as part of the Designers in Residence 2016 programme.
- In accordance with the Data Protection Act, 1998, the Design Museum will hold the personal data supplied on this form securely. It will only be used in the process of administering Designers in Residence, and will not be transferred to any third party. At the close of the residency, it will be retained permanently for historical research purposes in the Gallery's Archive (in accordance with Part IV, 33 of the Act).
- Design Museum employees are not permitted to enter.
- The Design Museum reserves the right to acquire the work for its Collection.
- The Design Museum reserves the right not to award a residency.
- The Design Museum will actively seek applications for the residency alongside the open call for entries, however all proposals submitted will be judged on merit.
- The decision of the judges is final and no correspondence can be entered into.
- Designers should be aware that at the shortlisting stage, prior to the interview day, all works are judged on an equal and anonymous basis and that there is no segregated judging by region, education or work experience.
- The Design Museum reserves the right to disqualify any piece of work if the artist has not adhered to the rules, even if the work has been selected for exhibition.
- The instructions and information form part of the rules and on signature of the application form, you are accepting the terms and conditions listed.
