

EASTER EGGSPLORING

Turn the egg below into a fantastic machine to help you explore the Design Museum and other locations around the city. Your egg might transform into a transportation device to help you hop around London, it might capture the exciting sounds around you or it might turn into a portable milkshake maker to quench your thirst after all your eggsploring!

Draw your design below and be sure to give it an equally brilliant name.

BUNNY COUNT

Several bunnies escaped from Eggquarters this morning and we need your help to find them! They were last seen bouncing towards the second floor Collection Lab and Designs of the Year exhibitions. They're known to be quite shy so are likely to be hiding amongst the displays.

Can you help us count the number of bunnies hiding in the exhibitions?
