BROMPTON LATE NIGHT OPENING
THURSDAY 19
SEPTEMBER
6 – 9 PM

NATURE/NURTURE

Brompton's theme for 2019, Nature/Nurture, explores what design is doing to protect and learn from the natural world, reconsidering our physical and emotional connection to nature, particularly in the urban environment. For Nature/Nurture, Brompton curator Jane Withers Studio has commissioned a series of outdoor installations by leading designers.

1 OFICINA PENADES
Traceless
Thursday 19 September: corner of Thurloe Square and Cromwell Road
Friday 20 September: outside South Kensington Tube Station, exit south to Pelham Street
Sunday 22 September: Exhibition Road Day of Design, Exhibition Road entrance, V&A oficinapenades.com
Jorge Penades constructs a nomadic pavilion inspired by the biomechanics of the human body that will appear in three locations around Brompton. Supported by Acción Cultural Española (AC/E) through the Programme for the Internationalisation of Spanish Culture (PICE).

2 THE LONDON FOUNTAIN COMPANY
The Fleet
Thurloe Street
thelondonfountaincompany.com
South Kensington Estates unveils the Fleet drinking fountain designed by Michael Anastassiades in its first permanent, public location outside South Kensington Station.

BROMPTON BIOTOPIA
Brompton Biotopia is a series of animal habitats designed to support urban biodiversity by designers working at the forefront of innovative material research. Designed from an animal perspective, the projects explore the potential of natural materials and are on view in Brompton's gardens for the duration of the London Design Festival.

3 STUDIO MARLÈNE HUISSOUD
Brompton Biotopia: Please Stand By Thurloe Square Gardens
marlene-huissoud.com
Working with natural and biodegradable materials, Huissoud creates beautifully intricate and sculptural insect homes for Brompton's tiniest creatures.

BROMPTON DESIGN DISTRICT

Since its first edition in 2006, the Brompton Design District has evolved to become a highlight of the London Design Festival with a curated programme of exhibits, talks and events on topical design issues.

Situated next to the Festival hub at the V&A, the District comes to life through its mix of international design brands and a series of outdoor commissions and temporary exhibits curated by Jane Withers Studio.
